Special Properties Real Estate Services, LLC, an exclusive affiliate of Christie's International Real Estate and the fastest growing real estate brokerage in New Jersey, recently celebrated the grand opening of its Mahwah brokerage office with an April 20 ribbon cutting. The office, located at 1009 MacArthur Boulevard in Mahwah, provides an easily accessible office location for prospective buyers and sellers to meet with Special Properties' team of real estate associates and support staff.

Joining the April 20 festivities were Mahwah Mayor Bill Laforet and Assemblywoman Holly Schepisi, along with several hundred of the region's business leaders, members of the real estate community, and local friends and neighbors.

"We are very happy to be part of the Mahwah community and humbled and thankful for the gracious welcome and best wishes of our corporate friends and neighbors," said Sonja Cullaro, Executive Vice President of Special Properties.

The Mahwah office is equipped with technologically-appointed conference rooms that allow virtual tours with the agent, as the 'tour guide,' right in the room to provide additional facts and anecdotal information that the client cannot get through an online search. The office also offers an array of computer terminals, equipped with wireless printing, for clients to use for additional property searches.

"Special Properties' Mahwah office location was specifically designed to meet the real estate and homeowner needs of our valued clientele in a single location," continued Cullaro.

In addition to its modern and comprehensive real estate office, clients have convenient access to a number of common services required during the real estate transaction, all in the same location. Without having to travel to multiple office locations, Special Properties' Mahwah office provides buyers and sellers the opportunity to meet with the region's most highly regarded mortgage brokers, general contractors, interior decorators, home staging specialists, and other home service vendors.

Also based at the Mahwah office is the Special Properties Club, a homeowner concierge service that can assist homeowners with the identification of contractors for home repairs, home maintenance, home staging, and interior design, as well as provide local school information, important community information, local restaurant information and reservations, and other potential needs that homeowners may have. The Club's recommended vendors and contractors have been fully vetted by Special Properties, and many offer member discounts, extended warranties, and other exclusive benefits.

With its affiliation with the Christie's International Real Estate network, Special Properties can assist in the relocation of clients anywhere in the world, and, at the same time, expose northern New Jersey's local communities to a larger universe of buyers from around the world.
